When China Files
Moscow's Orang-Outangs
By Arthur Brisbane

RESCUE 2 CLINGING TO UPSET DORY

The Chinese has no objection to death in a good cause. He can build and fly as well as any, and if China started East or West through the air it would be a different invasion from the old Asiatic trip on foot or on baggy poulie.

Moscow's climate is bad for monkeys. Bolshevism, interested in popular education, has orang- outangs in its zoo and wants them to live. So night and morning these orang-outangs absorb

CONTINUE INQUEST INTO DEATH OF MIDSHIPMAN

New Bedford, Sept. 27.—With half the witnesses heard, the secret inquest into the death of Gordon Stewart Blair, 26, former Annapolis midshipman, was put over today until tomorrow because of inability of Captain Charles J. Van Amburgh, state firearms expert, to be present. Captain Van Amburgh examined the pistol found to Blair's room at his home, No. 11 Lincoln street, and examined a shell on the bureau where the gun rested.

Among other witnesses to be heard tomorrow are Joseph Jette, Jr., police finger print expert; James J. Wixon of Commonwealth avenue, Boston, a friend of Blair and Lawrence M. Frenkelburg of Commonwealth avenue, Boston, insurance agent who sold Blair the $1000 life policy with a $10,000 additional accident clause.

ICE SELLS FOR $1 A POUND IN EAST BOSTON

Ice went up to $1 a pound in East Boston today, but not the way you think. It was paid by Dennis J. Burke of Chelsea street who, you may recall, is an ice man.

The price was set in East Boston Court by Judge John W. Burke, who decided guilty to giving short weight in delivering a piece of ice in Winthrop.

Judge Barnes fixed $1 a pound (exclusive of the rate for transport) and the piece was fourteen pounds.

WRECK, NO DRIVER

UNHURT AS CAR DROPS 25 FEET

Crashing through a fence in Somerville avenue today, Michael Cosselli, thirty of Summer street, Somerville, plunged twenty-five feet in his toppling car on the tracks of the Boston & Maine Railroad, but although the machine was wrecked, Cosselli escaped serious injury.

What puzzled the police was that when they arrived at the scene in response to telephone calls from neighbors there was nobody here, the wrecked car and the driver were not anywhere in evidence.

By the registration plates the owner was checked and Cosselli was found at his home, to where he said he had walked after his drop.

Cosselli told police he went over the sidewalk and through the fence in attempting to avoid a second car.

By LORENA A. HICKOR.
New York, Sept. 27.—First I find out that blond gentlemen prefer brunettes.

"Then I start concentrating. I'm not religious or anything like that, but when I concentrate—well, I mean, I concentrate."

"I concentrate on an apartment on Park avenue. I got that. I go right on concentrating, and, first thing I know I've got a Rolls-Royce, a string of real pearls, a 24-karat diamond on one hand, and a 22 karat diamond on the other."

"But, somehow I'm not satisfied. You know what I mean? I want to see what every single girl longs for. An apartment on Park avenue, a Rolls-Royce and all those pearls and things. And my liberty, too. But it's not all sugar."

"So I think, maybe, I'm getting someone—or in love, I mean. And so I decide to get married. I mean, I think a lot of show girls would be late better off if they did, too. Don't you?"

In case you don't know what the foregoing is all about, it shall be explained that you have just read the ruminations of Miss Helen Henderson, former—and exceedingly—"Follies"—Follies girl, ruminated on the eve of her marriage.

Today, on her 23d birthday, the little, dark-eyed Helen is a comely Aaron Henrich, 60-year-old Baltimore retired banker.

"He's stout, but not fat," says Miss Henderson.

"The wedding must be in the afternoon," the bride said, "because I simply can't get up before noon; and that's that."

In a few days—after the bride has had a chance to get "Oh, some clothes and a few things"—the happy pair will embark on their honeymoon trip to Honolulu.

After that they are to settle either in New York or in London.

She concentrated on love—got it; on diamonds—got 'em; on a rich hubby—got 'im; on a Rolls-Royce—got it.

Now she's talking about a baby!

A rich Baltimore financier is her new hubby. Her first was a theatre drummer, but she must have concentrated on a divorce. Anyway, she got it!

GOODWIN BANS HAMPTON, N. H., IN NEW WAR

Rushing to the aid of Massachusetts motorists, Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin today placed a ban on the town of Hampton, N. H.

Because of alleged intimations referred by local sources at the hands of the Hampton police, Registrar Goodwin announced that the reciprocal arrangement in effect between the two States was off as far as Hampton be concerned.

By the terms of this arrangement, Massachusetts motorists, who failed to answer a summons into a New Hampshire court, found his home taken up by Registrar Goodwin.

The announcement was made in a letter to John P. Griffin, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles at Concord, N. H., in which the police of Hampton were severely criticized.

Registrar Goodwin informed the New Hampshire official that the consent among many Massachusetts drivers, who complained to him seemed to be:

- 1—Massachusetts cars are discriminated against in Hampton.
- 2—Every Monday morning finds large numbers of Massachusetts drivers in court on charges that are many times trumped up and would not be pressed elsewhere.
- 3—In the majority of cases fines and costs are paid because it is too inconvenient and costly to appeal.
- 4—Officers who work there for three months of summer receive $2.75 as witness fees for each case they bring in.

"If it is so that these officers get part of the fees," wrote Registrar Goodwin, "I should say it is about time for New Hampshire to make some changes in its laws because such a system cannot but result in hostilities."

He said he would like to see the reciprocal arrangement continue but not with Hampton.

GOOD GOODS GO CHEAP AT SALE

Rubber boots, women's underwear, harmonicas, fur coats, pipes and tobacco, old time, rare and wicker were some of the varied articles disposed of today in the well-attended government auction sale at Appellate Court House.

The articles disposed of were seized and unclaimed goods, and in only a few instances were they of sufficient value to bring out bidders from a comparatively small crowd.

A better pipe, together with a cigar and cigarette holder, were knocked down to Mrs. Glavin for $4.25, while a Hudson seal coat valued at $350 was sold to R. N. Nossaman of Boston for $125 after a flurry of bidding.

Included in the seized goods were bay rum, razors, harmonicas, sweaters, vests, tobacco, neckties (cheaply made), underwear, ostrich feathers and watches.

The unclaimed goods included 12 cases of old-fashioned high-top boots for women, children's slacks, rubber boots, gold chains, paper bags, soap, soapstone and, indeed, everything.

GIRL IN NOLIN CASE ADMITS DRINKING

Lawrence, Sept. 27 (A.P.)—Al though she is only 18 years old, Mary Cecilia, testified in Superior Court here today that she had partaken of liquor a number of years before she met Lee Nolin of South Greenland and Herman A. Reed of Watbury, Conn.

Mary is the State's star witness against Nolin and Reed, on trial for the murder of William M. Griffin of Haverhill on March 7 last.

She denied any promises had been made to her as an alleged accessory by the district attorney's office for taking the witness stand and said she did not think it strange her name was in the trial.

She declined having heard Reed say to Nolin: "If you're shot a man, I'll have nothing more to do with you. I'm going back to Hart," or "I'll be along back to Hart," or further, at Lawrence, Me., when the time was approaching to claim the day after the murder.

GEN. LOGAN AND WIFE BOTH ILL

On Board the U. S. Bertha, Sept. 27—Major General Edward L. Logan and Mrs. Logan are confined to their cabin on board this Boston-bound steamship today, the general having been fighting an attack of tonsillitis throughout the convention of the American Legion in Paris, and only giving in to the illness after he had stepped aboard the liner.

To the many inquiries sent to the cabin of Mrs. Logan replies that there is nothing serious about the attack and that the General will be on his feet before the Bertha makes quarantine.

But all the Day State Legionnaires are not aboard the Bertha by any means. Many of them are among the gentlemen who are visiting in Italy, taking in Rome, Genoa and Pisa on their sight-seeing tour, while others are with the Thomas H. Wadsworth Post of New York in its invasion of London.

BRIDE DRINKS POISON DOSE

Stealing the contents of a vial at Water and Pine streets, Charles town, 19-year-old Mrs. Jane Robinson, believed to be a bride of only five weeks, fell, writhing in pain, on the sidewalk today.

She was picked up by Patrick McLaughlin of Washington square and James McLaughlin of Turt court, both Charlestown, and rushed to the Haymarket Police Hospital in an ambulance.

The girl would not give her present home address to police, but said she was formerly Jane Blansky of Beacon street, Chelsea.

Reported by neighbors, she had swallowed poison, but that she would recover.

CHIEF WITNESS IN MURDER OF DOCTOR GONE

Hammon, N. J., Sept. 27 (U. P.)—State troopers visiting the home of Yvonne Beach of Vineland, who was recently questioned in the murder of Dr. William L. Lillendahl, found Beach absent today and were informed by neighbors that he had left in a blue sedan earlier in the day.

Chief of Detectives Frank Harold announced that an alarm was to be broadcast throughout the state for the missing man.

"We have been unable to find any trace of him, despite the fact he is a well-known person," said Chief Harold.

Beach, who was to have been taken to the murder scene in a swamp road near Vineland, was known that the officers were in his home, authorities said.

"Three men who testified they saw a blue sedan emerge from the beach home on the day of the murder were on hand today to inspect Beach's machine."

Beach has admitted a clandestine correspondence with the dead doctor's wife, Gertrude, who was thirty years her husband's junior.

Another startling development in the ten-day investigation came today with the announcement that detectives had found two road maps, one in Mrs. Lillendahl's pocketbook, which bore a series of dashes and crosses, designating the spot where the murder was committed. Mrs. Lillendahl has confessed her husband was slain by two negro thugs while defending her.

COLD TONIGHT, BUT A WARMER DAY'S COMING

But the gloom of the faulty man as he began to think of situations the cold was lightened by a further prediction that a warm wave was expected soon, being now on its way from southwestern Canada. Northeast and East wind added to the discomfort locally and some motorists were warned that air chills these winds might reach the intensity of gales.

Strangely enough the cold wave today was not according to the weather man, the one that was expected from the west, that area of high pressure being stopped by a warm barrier on the Mississippi. Boston's cold was born in New England and eastern Canada, he explained.

Thermometers stood in the lower fifties in several Western States today following heavy frosts yesterday in the Dakotas and northern Minnesota.

Forced to return to Paris by automobile, most of the party, including the Worcester Legion vet, try the hop again today.

MARRIED COUPLE'S RIGHT TO 'SPOON' UP TO JURY

Cleveland, Sept. 27 (A. P.)—The question of a wife's right to sit on her husband's lap in the back seat of their auto and "spoon" without interference from police rested today with a jury in Common Pleas Court, where testimony in the $100,000 damage suit brought by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mack against Police Sergeant Frank L. Rolfe had been concluded.

One night in July Mr. and Mrs. Mack, both young, were returning with friends from a picnic. Rolfe and a police squad looking for a gang of rowdies, suddenly threw their lights upon the Mack auto and disclosed Mrs. Mack kissing her husband.

Rolfe dragged them from the car and they were held six hours in jail, they testified.

TRAFFIC HALTED BY SOMERVILLE CRASH

Traffic in Somerville avenue, north street at Bow-lane, was halted today in the early rush hour following a collision between a sedan automobile and an elevated car.

The sedan, driven by Robert Rogers of Summer street, Somerville, crashed the trolley head on, the forward part of the auto collapsing and becoming wedged under the front of the trolley. Nobody was injured. Two working men were necessary to separate trolley and auto.

FILM STRIKE IN WHALE CITY

New Bedford, Sept. 27 (A. P.)—A strike of piano players, motion picture machine operators and stage hands closed three movie houses here and made makeshift arrangements necessary at seven others affected by the walkout.

All ten operated in some fashion, however, and today managers of the houses said places of all the strikers had been closed.

To provide music for two of his houses the manager of a string of cinemas said a silent act he had looked for his largest theatre, and one girl to the South End to play the piano there now kept the other in the North End to replace a striking pianist. Boston and Providence organizers were brought into some houses. One manager in his own motion picture projection machine.

ENLARGED JOINTS—No longer so painful. No longer unsightly!

If the Coward Store brought nothing else to Boston but this seamless shoe of soft kid—it would still win thousands of friends.

Its secret is an inbuilt, low-profile, narrow sole size of the enlarged joint. Without a visible looking shoe in tan or black, with a wide All size; all widths.

Helen Ranlet Loving Weds George Wadsworth Burgess in Emmanuel Church; Young Couple to Reside in Milton Following Honeymoon

"HAPPY THE BRIDE THE SUN SHINES ON" RUNS THE ANCIENT ADAGE. AND FOR MRS. GEORGE WADSWORTH BURGESS, petite and golden-haired and looking like a story-book bride in girlish tulle and spiderweb lace, the sun shone down in unclouded serenity. He peeped on her as she arrived at Emmanuel Church, so delectable a bit of femininity as ever walked up the ecclesiastical aisle. And he beamed generously on wedding party and wedding guests, as they gathered at the Loving place in Brookline for the reception.

NINE OF THE BRIDE'S MOST attractive girl friends made up her entourage, each undeniably the type to best set off bridegroom attire with charm and distinction. They were delicate beings lace mantled with a dashing fuchsia tone, and their hair also of fuchsia varied distinctly from the picturesque mode in their ring snags lines. Miss Louise Tyler of Chicago, was the honor maid and the others were all local girls of the insurance smart set wherein the bride belongs.

THEY WERE MISS THEODORA AYER, Miss Mabel Bayard Taylor, Miss Betty Bond, Miss Eleanor Mason, Miss Edith Parker, Miss Helen Mosley, Miss Ellen Hallowell and Miss Eleanor Gibson. And as for decorative qualities, no one can dispute that the usher, a dapper figure in formal attire, and the bridesmaid, a close second. They furnished exactly the sombre background necessary to make of the wedding promiscuous thing of balanced and contrasting effects.

M. R. BURGESS CHOSE HIS SISTER, Miss Helen Ranlet Loving, as his bride. The bridegroom, a young man of much taste and discrimination, Frank Barton was best man, and Messrs. J. Randolph Burke, Robert H. Hallowell, E. Maurine Hallowell, Jr., J. Randolph Burke, Robert H. Hallowell, Jr., Oliver F. Wadsworth, Phillip H. Smith, Benjamin Franklin Hallowell, Jr., F. Wadsworth and Mr. H. W. Wadsworth were the other young men whose duties kept them much in evidence, both at church and reception.

THE BRIDE, THE FORMER Miss Helen Ranlet Loving, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Loving. They have a pleasant home in Brookline, its extensive grounds set in a beautiful wooded seclusion atop a rustic knot. Such a perfect day and such a pretty garden setting gave to the reception a delightful freedom informality. Mr. Burgess, Harvard, 1925, is a son of Mrs. Guy Waring, and Eliot Wadsworth is an uncle. The future home is to be in Milton, which means that these charming young newweds will be frequently seen in their smart Boston circle.

WITH A STAR-STUDDED SKY for its roof and tall evergreens making a spicy background for the audience the "Try-Out" Theatre in Wellesley had its premiere last evening. The performance was at fresco, most unexpected. All because authority armed with a sheaf of technicalities had stepped in at the last moment to forbid the performance within doors. Nothing daunted, Leighton Bollen and his respectful staff of the "Try-Out" Theatre set themselves to solve a puzzling problem—how to give their audience the best of their theatre, since they were forbidden to use the one they had so carefully prepared, and beautifully arranged.

WITH ONLY A FEW HOUSES at their disposal they worked like beavers, and certainly achieved wonders. They set up their playhouse out-of-doors. The results were extraordinarily picturesque. A large and enthusiastic audience was on hand as the first evening of excitement for the Try-Out Theatre passed serenely from triumph to triumph. Instead of the lambent pink flames walking across a future

Lynnburg, N. S., Sept. 27 (A.P.)—The mystery surrounding the fate of one of the four Lanesburg fishing vessels, lost this season with their combined crews of approximately eighty men, was lifted today when the Fisheries Protection steamer Arcturion towed into the port a wreckage consisting of a main boom, main gaff, topmast, halibut, blooded and pieces of sail.

Predict Exact Hour of Snow to Get Coal

Some very, very naughty people are writing to the Snow Man.

These people won't get a speck of coal nor a smell, even, of the smoke when the coal is burned.

The naughty people are the ones who have been in weather predictions and haven't followed the few rules in one detail or another. Some haven't sent an accompanying letter for not more than 50 words telling how they arrived at their conclusion.

Others have sent the letter but haven't put in the time of day. "Isn't that too bad?"

Well, here are a few predictions whose makers have conformed to the rules.

Nelson B. Wells of No. 8 Holborn street, East Milton, says: "The first snow for this season will fall to Metropolitan Boston at 11:59 a. m. on Saturday, Nov. 12."

HE EXPLAINS WHY.

Nelson, in addition, explains as follows: "There will be no October snowfall. October will be mostly warm and pleasant, due to cold, rainy summer. This is a bad year for weather, so a storm may be expected around noon any Saturday. According to averages, mid-November should bring the first snow."

Fine, Nelson, fine, whether or not you are right. Very clear, very concise. Another predictor, "J. F. N." is Man from Hyde Park Avenue, for

This week... get Rinso

Mrs. T. P. Maloney, 518 Cambridge St., Allston, says:

"I always start the week right by using Rinso in my washer. It's so much safer! It makes such creamy suds that the clothes turn over so much whiter and fresher-looking than they used to with other soaps. I don't have to boil them, and even the dirtiest pieces get spotless with just a tiny little bit of rubbing. And Rinso makes all my other housework just as easy. It's great for dishes and woodwork. It doesn't scratch paint, and it certainly is the best soap I've ever used for the linoleum."

Neighbors will envy your whiter wash—no scrubbing ~ no boiling ~ so clothes last longer

YES, just that—looked clean! Soaked whiter and brighter than you could get them the old scrub-and-rub way!

Forget about the washboard—you don't need it. Never mind boiling, either. Rinso whitens without boiling—sterilizes, too!

Watch dirt float off

This amazing granulated soap is all you need on washday. It makes even the hardest water soft and soapy all through. The creamy suds loosen dirt and stains so they float off by themselves. The wash is left spotless and sparkling—whitens you over soap!

No other laundry soap rinses out so quickly, so completely as Rinso. Best of all, it takes the dirt with it as it rinses. That's why it's called Rinso!

Saves hands—clothes, too

Washday hands—red and coarsened—are the result of endless washboard rubbing. But this soak-and-rinse way saves your hands.

Saves the clothes, too

No need to rub things thin against a board. The most soiled parts come clean with a gentle rub or two between the fingers.

And Rinso is so safe. Contains no acids or bleaches—of any description. Economical, too—it's not fluffy chips but closely packed granulated soap.

Try soaking clothes clean this very week. Follow easy directions on package for economy and best results.

Guaranteed by the makers of Lax-Low Bros. Co.

QUINCY SCHOOL SITE FOUGHT

Strung to action by what they declare to be an invasion of their rights, residents of Merrymont were today planning to attend in force the meeting of the Quincy school board tonight, prepared to battle for the site of a proposed schoolhouse.

The Merrymont Improvement Association, at a crowded meeting, went on record to the effect that residents of the district are entitled to a voice in determining the location of a new school. A special committee, appointed to look into the matter, reported instructions that a site would be selected on the far side of Sea street. As the Merrymont development lies almost entirely to the north and west of Sea street, it would be necessary for children to cross that thoroughfare daily, creating the danger of automobile and trolley car traffic. Residents of Merrymont expressed themselves emphatically as being of the opinion that the school should be located on the near side of Sea street.

PEARLS FADE AS BARON DIES

Millbach, Rhode, Sept. 27 (A.P.)—The quiet building the famous Maltese pearls, which legend says came to the family by supernatural means and are said to change color whenever a death in the family occurs, was opened today by the general dealer of relatives as an outcome of the death of Baron von Malbach, killed in an airplane accident.

It was found that all the pearls had turned a yellowish line instead of only one pearl becoming discolored as hitherto had been reported to have happened whenever a member of the family died.

The last occasion that this definitely was established, according to family records, was in 1912, when the baron's grandfather died.

2 GLASSES OF BEER COST DRIVER $50—IN FINE

"I am going to keep it for the streets of men who are trying to get loose and gamble." With these words, Judge Dowd in Municipal Court today slapped a fine of $50 on Thomas Kelly of Haled, Alton, who admitted drinking two glasses of beer before driving his car. Patrolman Hutchinson, on traffic duty at Lagrange and Washington streets, declared Kelly failed to stop on signal.

"No man driving a car has the right to take even one sip of liquor," said Judge Dowd. "I don't care how much a man drinks, but he cannot drink anything, here or any other liquor, and drive a car."

Happy As He Pays $10 for One-Arm Auto Driving

Armed and ready, William L. Hutton, nineteen-year-old youth of Hutton square, Charlestown, went into East Boston Court today, bladed guilty in a cheerful manner and paid $10 for driving his automobile with arm around a girl.

Patrolman O'Brien was the man who has no remorse—only safety—in his policeman's suit and the chimney chattering occurred in Fined square, East Boston.

FEAR GERMAN FLIERS LOST

Berlin, Sept. 27 (U.N.R.)—The latest attempt by German airmen to write a chapter in the history of successful long-distance flights has come to grief. It was believed here today, when 72 hours had passed since word had been received of the whereabouts of Captain Otto Koenigs, German-Indian flyer, and his two companions, who hopped off from Ankara, Turkey, to Basra, Mesopotamia, last Saturday.

Nothing has been heard from Koenigs and his companions since they took off from Ankara, although they expected to be in there Saturday night. It is feared the airmen have been forced down in the desert.

FLOATING MINE STIRS SALEM

Salem, Sept. 27 (A.P.)—Floating mine has been found in the harbor of the Moore estate of Price's Cove, Beverly. It was apparently loaded with explosives.

The Beverly police notified naval authorities and a coast guard boat from Gloucester was sent to seize it.

It is thought it may have been lost from one of the naval vessels in Gloucester.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN RADIO ~ AERO SHOW SECTION

Annual Pride of Boston Radio

By C. WILLIAM RADOS, Radio Editor

ONCE each year, radio in all its phases collects itself to pause on the threshold of a new year. In the radio industry, this year is marked each fall, by the annual exhibit which gathers in one spot, all the advances radio has made in the past year.

Radio has made advances. In all the various branches of radio, progress has left marking the richer for the efforts of many unselfish leaders. Radio, aviation, technique of program directing, marine radio, radio movies, listeners' receivers and technical advances and discovery are only a few of the marks which show radio is moving ahead.

Almost thirty years ago Marconi sent the first radio-gram a distance of ten miles. At that time radio seemed miraculous. The general public paid little attention. Seven years ago R.E.A. started the first commercial broadcasting. To catch mass from the sky was a seemingly magical performance.

Any radio, voice, or sound that could be discerned on the ether now equips a vast and crowded world. The radio is no longer a novelty, it is a part of the life of the nation.

Today radio entertainment is on a high plane. The great and small of all nations are listening and learning are frequently heard. Every major political, educational, sports and musical event is not out of the air. There is no bar to the reception of radio by anyone.

The general public can hear the inspiring words of President Coolidge as well as can the weather of the land. Radio is democracy.

YEAR'S ADVANCES

To the listener, entertainment seems the most obvious phase of radio. Since the last Boston Radio show two far-reaching networks of stations have been created in recent months, reception of one program. Program standards are much higher. The program sponsors have learned from long experience which type of entertainment pleases the listener best. The most skillful and famous artists and musical organizations are the only ones being on the network broadcasts.

In another way the year has shown a great advance. Last year there were few classified receivers. At this year's Annual Radio show the listener finds a great number of classified radios. Any type and size and combination can be obtained complete with cord to attach to the several light sockets. A simple range of the radio and the program is in. The program, the music, the news, the sports, they illustrate a real advance over the last twelve months.

BETTER TONAL QUALITIES

New broadcast receivers give us programs which are acoustically and artistically perfect. They have done their share. The best series program, the broadcast series, it put on the air sound. They have all the their energies into making the reproduction as nearly perfect as possible. The older types were not good musical reproductions for most part. These new models will reproduce faithfully.

In other ways the new radio receivers are better. A year's work development, experiment and experiment has gone into the production of the models now showing. Advances in circuits, construction, electrical shielding, accessories, voice reproduction, reproductions, design and appearance is very evident. These are radio's greater instruments. The purchase can be assured that his instrument will not become obsolete.

PROGRAM BENEFITS

Regularly listeners benefit by the formation of radio's network/broadcast network of stations, one of which is in Boston. New York is the movement and entertainment center of the United States. Listeners profit by the extension of means where by more and varied entertainment is thus brought on the air from New York.

Program standards have increased. Entertainment by the commercial companies themselves to develop unselfishness with programs. This is a healthy condition. It promotes competition and competition brings out the best.

What the year will bring in development of programs can not be very definitely forecast. One new factor, however, will thrust radio into world wide prominence as an evidence of the growth of civilization. In the 1928 political campaign radio will be a very important factor in the election of the President.

The Presidential candidates will broadcast from one center and be heard over most of the country. Voters will intelligently compare one man and his party's principles against his rival's. Personal influence will be brought to bear upon the average citizen. When he goes to the polls his ideas will have been formed by radio. Radio will elect the next President.

RADIO AVIATION

This has been a wonderfully pregnant year for aviation. Yet many of the brilliant achievements of the transatlantic flights, the air mail, and the transcontinental races would not have been possible but for the great assistance of radio.

At the yearly air mail aviation across his way through the darkness, closely night, alone his plane is guided faithfully by the radio air beacon. Before him on the decked instrument board gleam two small glowing lamps, faintly red. As he moves at great speed through the dark with his important cargo, he depends absolutely on radio. Yet he can trust his life with it, for he always comes safely to the next airport.

Radio directs aviation of all kinds, private, and military, and naval methods and operations are shown. This is for the first time in any exhibition in the world.

One of the three Whitehead engines used by Commander Richard E. Byrd in his historic North Pole flight, and a duplicate of those used by Colonel Lindbergh and Commander Hurd in their transatlantic crossings are seen. Nearly in the heart of the "Boston" model an airplane of the type used until recently by the United States Army. This "only" transported from the Boston airport, and was saved out by order of the War Department for this exhibition when it contained all phases of this type in its development on September 1. The "Army" was turned over to the expedition with the understanding that it will be flown again, and directly after the show will be returned to Captain Hurd at the airport for destruction.

Man-lifting lifts and aerial lifts of the type that Commander Byrd will take on his expedition to the North Pole also are exhibited and demonstrated by himself. F. Perkins of Boston, who furnished many of the lifts used in the governmental service. Several kind of mechanical lifts, parachutes, dirigibles, balloons, blimp-like model dirigibles and dirigible guns, apparatus used for testing prospective army pilots, electric air balloons, type of engine model aircraft model, and a host of models of fifteen different types of many planes are other features of the aviation section of the show.

AMERICAN'S BOOTH HIT OF SHOW

Last night the Radio-Aero Show had a surprise for the great crowds which watched the exhibits of the Boston American and Sunday Avertiser. At times the crash of spectators, although threatening to knock over the fence, was a tribute to the great attraction of the booth. Operating several spectacular machines the American booth and exhibits demonstrated novel radio phenomena never attempted before in Mechanics Hall.

Messages for free transportation to all parts of the world were accepted. Powered by the portable transmitter, Operators G. Donald Messers and Clifford Harvey connected with outside radio stations. These stations in turn passed along the messages to Scotland, Switzerland and points in the Continent.

By relay from the American-Avertiser booth a message was sent to several radio stations throughout the world. This was the first time such an attempt was made directly from Mechanics Hall.

In addition to the free transmission of messages, was the annual exhibit of the Boston American and Sunday Avertiser. This organization exhibited the baby transmitter which sent power through the air.

At the miniature parts charged with electricity on the sender wire, the transmitter was lighted with different degrees of brilliancy. Demonstration was carried out on the exceedingly short wave of five meters of 15-25 kilocycles.

On exhibition in the Aero Show was one of the good will model plane of the Boston American and Sunday Avertiser. This miniature plane is a replica of the famous monoplane which carried Lindbergh, Noville, Chamberlin, Hagenberger and others across the ocean.

KODEL ELECTRIC SOCKET POWER

Kodel combination A, B and C radio transmitters make every light socket a source of perfect, unfading, incandescent radio power for all receivers. The many problems of the development of such devices have been successfully solved by Kodel engineers, and complete light socket A, B and C radio power is now an accomplished fact.

Kodel combination transmitters are always ready for use and may be operated continuously if desired. They consume current only when receiver is being used and cost practically nothing to operate—less than one-tenth cent. per hour.

They contain no liquids or charging bulbs of any kind and may be installed anywhere. Installation is quickly and easily accomplished, it being merely necessary to insert attachment plug in nearest lamp socket and connect.

TEMPLE SPEAKERS SHIPPED BY PLANE

Temple, Inc., manufacturer of the Temple Air Column Speaker, Temple Double Action Unit and the Temple Comparator, was the first radio manufacturer to ship the Temple Air Column Speaker by Air Express over the American Railway Express Air Line from Chicago to New York.

This speaker went on the first American Railway Express airplane and it arrived for air express by this company September 1.

The American Railway Express Company's express air service has a special air express truck which picks up air express packages in Chicago to deliver to the flying field and to take them from the plane at the landing field in New Brunswick to their destination.

The Temple Air Column Speaker that went on this plane was the first air express package ever packed by the American Railway Express air service.

PROMINENT RADIO MEN GIVE VIEWS

J. H. BURKE A. ATWATER KENT LEE R. HOWE
PROMINENT ATWATER KENTERS

J. H. BURKE

J. H. Burke, radio distributor of stability, had just returned from a business trip and settled back to talk radio.

"Nonadverses," Mr. Burke commented, "the public does not purchase a radio on its technical merits. It depends and puts its faith on the manufacturer's guarantee. A few years ago, when the industry was very young, there were literally thousands of manufacturers of all grades. Now there are fewer, and the public was bewildered and confused."

"Today a radio is purchased on the reputation of the manufacturer's name. Technical arguments are not well understood by the average man because he merely wants entertainment and satisfaction."

"Given in a few years an enormous change has occurred in radio."

Externally formerly it was a man's toy, continued Mr. Burke. "Now all radio is designed to please and harmonize with the furniture of the most fastidious woman's home."

J. H. Burke, as New England distributor of Atwater Kent, Sonora, Columbia batteries and R. C. A. tubes, joined at No. 19 Columbus avenue predicts that as the industry develops, unstable, unreliable manufacturers will be forced out and only a few high-grade, name brands will survive.

LEE R. HOWE
L. R. Howe, of Howe and Company, 131 Devonian Street, a New England distributor for Atwater Kent, was talking about radio as a means of education.

"Up in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, and in Western Massachusetts," Howe was remarking, "we find thousands of school teachers, artists, novelists, professional people, and business people whose homes are equipped with radio solely for the educational advantage derived therefrom."

Mr. Howe in mentioning school teachers told how much radio meant to him.

"Up in those sparsely settled country districts," he declared, "school children are almost isolated from the quickly moving ideas of the larger centers. We have employed many school teachers to purchase radio by opening accounts just for that purpose."

"Undoubtedly this reacts to the benefit of the students as well. A school teacher who receives news, educational talks, and inspiration from the other parts of the country is much better mentally, emotionally, and more modern."

RADIO IS BETTER WITH BATTERY POWER

Radio is no better than the "B" current

The quality of your radio reception depends on the source of your "B" power. With batteries, radio is at its best. But, there is a great difference in batteries. The big Eveready Layerbit No. 486 will outlast any other Eveready Battery—and Eveready are noted for their smooth, steady, silent power and long-lasting qualities.

The patented Eveready Layerbit is the only battery of its kind. Built in layers that occupy all available space inside the case, it contains more active materials than any other battery of equal size. For that reason it provides more electricity. It is actually the longest-lasting and most economical battery you can buy. The reputation and resources of its makers, the National Carbon Company, stand back of it.

Wilson, as a Youth, Moved About in a Circle of Notable Citizens

By RAY STANNARD BAKER
Copyright, 1927, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

WHILE Woodrow Wilson's character and career, his distinctive qualities and his limitations, can be explained in large measure by his heredity and his early environment, there is danger in the case of Wilson, as in that of Lincoln, because the elements of heredity and environment are both so exceptional, of oversimplification. That was the Scot in him! That was County Down! That was his early environment! That was the training of his father!

'TELL THE WORLD,' IDEA BOOSTED BY CUTTER

By self-advertisement, New England might well become the most famous spot on earth with limitless markets for high quality products, Victor M. Cutter, president of the United Fruit Company, told members and guests of the Boston Advertising Club today at a luncheon at the Hotel Bellevue.

[illegible]

"This is proof of the ability of New Englanders to perceive that a good basic product can be developed into a world commodity," he said. "It does not demonstrate wisdom."

Luckies First for Flavor and Goodness

Then note the verdict of 11,105* doctors

WHAT is the quality that Mario Chamlee, Florence Easton, Marie Rappold, Reinald Werrenrath, Giuseppe DeLuca, Fritz Scheff, William Hodge, and other famous singers, actors, broadcasters and public speakers have found that makes LUCKY STRIKES delightful and of no possible injury to their voices?

For the answer we turned to medical men and asked them this question:

Do you think from your experience with LUCKY STRIKE cigarettes that they are less irritating to sensitive or tender throats than other cigarettes, whatever the reason?

11,105 doctors answered this question "YES."

Consider what these figures mean; consider that they represent the opinion and experience of doctors, those whose business it is to know.

Reinald Werrenrath, Famous Baritone, writes

In my concert work, I must, of course, give first consideration to my voice. Naturally, I am very careful about my choice of cigarettes as I must have the blend which is kindly to my throat. I smoke Lucky Strikes, finding that they meet my most critical requirements.

ARE you discouraged because you are still far from the goal you set for yourself?

Are you like getting up and closing your door and saying, "Are you kidding? What's the use of further effort?" Perhaps you set your goal too high.

Perhaps you did not use good judgment in choosing it.

Or, perhaps you thought you could gain your place without much effort and because you found it difficult, you are now looking for an excuse.

But, if you are not to be left out of the race, you must go ahead and try to reach your goal, also. Be sure you are in your goal.

Which team has reached this objective in its life ahead?

BAROMETERS OF BUSINESS

IS RISING

By FRANK H. MELGON.

Barometer of business is still rising. Index of orders compiled by the Associated Industries of Massachusetts, including companies in the Bay State with a capitalization of approximately $400,000,000, shows a month ago, promises to become increasingly valuable with age.

NATIONAL POLICIES OF THE HEARST NEWSPAPERS

1. An agreement of English-speaking peoples to preserve peace among themselves and promote the peace of the world.
2. A constitutional amendment to provide for the election of United States Senators in numbers proportionate to the population of each state, but no state to have less than two Senators. A reapportionment of Congressional representation immediately after every census, or in case of the failure of Congress so to act, to make the apportionment automatic at the end of the first Congressional session, the proportion of population for each representative in each case to be that of the existing Congress.
3. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Force, all united under a Secretary of National Defense.

4. Federal action to the limit of Federal Government powers to abolish illiteracy among the people of the United States, and the creation of a Bureau of Education on the 1st of January following, and the inauguration of a President on the 1st of January immediately following his election in November.

It Should Be Stopped

Inasmuch Waste of Our Oil Could Be Prevented by National Regulation of the Industry

The Secretary of the Interior, Hubert Work, in a statement to the Hearst newspapers, has emphasized the desperate situation of the oil industry, whose wasteful methods of production the President intended to curb by his Federal Oil Conservation Board, appointed in December, 1924. Secretary Work is chairman of the President's board.

The Federal Oil Conservation Board in its report urged the industry to adopt remedial measures. In particular, it was suggested that the oil lawyers should aid in devising legislation which would enable oil operators to halt the present over-production. Secretary Work now says:

"A year has now passed, the peak of production of oil is endangering the health of the industry—indeed the very life of the smaller and weaker companies. Yet no constructive move has been made towards relieving the pressure of competition which now bears so heavily upon the thousands of units in the business which the country cannot afford to see go down and out. Are we to indulge in this wasteful waiting for disaster?"

A year ago, September, 1926, Secretary Work's Federal Oil Conservation Board reported a shocking instance of waste in oil production. Bear in mind that this instance covers the waste in a single field, Santa Fe Springs, in Southern California:

"In this small but highly productive field, forty-five operating companies competed, drilling more wells than necessary, letting loose an unneeded flood of oil on the market, with resultant disaster to the price structure, and creating conditions of increasing operating costs."

"The total losses attributed to this competitive struggle in a single field are estimated as in excess of $200,000,000. But even greater perhaps than this economic waste, involving a loss to the industry, is the loss to the country involved in the dissipation of gas pressure, leaving in the upper sands oil that might have been recovered to an amount equal to that actually taken out under the rash methods of competitive drilling and producing."

The President's board meant that, if sane, accepted engineering methods had been applied, TWICE AS MUCH OIL would have been recovered from Santa Fe Springs as was actually recovered. If this is not waste, what is waste? The oil industry is not only wasting its own property. In a peculiar sense, oil is the nation's property. It is the most indispensable material in modern war. For the oil industry to waste and lose half of our limited oil supply is to cripple the nation's ability for self-defense in the future.

In the Federal Government impatient to intervene? Henry L. Doherty, president of the Cities Service Company and one of the most brilliant men in the oil industry, says no. He says that the Federal Government has the power and the duty to step in and see that this national resource is handled with regard for the national welfare. He says his lawyers have advised him that:

"No statute that the war power is so limited that we are compelled to see our most important munition of war ruthlessly wasted, is nothing less than absurd, and any lawyer or group of lawyers who attempt to make the legal profession look ridiculous."

In the next Congress a bill will be introduced providing for a regulatory commission to enforce practical conservation of oil, to allow reasonable reduction of drilling and production and to protect the public against any price extortion that might result from restricted output. It will be for the benefit of the oil industry and for the benefit of consumers, just as in the case of Federal regulation of railroads.

Fog

Special Promise Way to Beat It

Editorial at this office hopes that fogs may soon cease to be the terror of our eyes.

So-called blue-light rays, it has been found, penetrate fog and register on prepared photographic plates, revealing what the fog now conceals.

When planes and ships can carry the paraphernalia to make use of this discovery we may expect fewer losses and collisions.

Unspoiled

This Man Meets Test

We all may profit by the example of Patrick Fitzgerald, veteran game warden at a big plant on Staten Island, N. Y., made a member of his company's board of directors. Mr. Fitzgerald remains unspoiled by the honor. Lesser laurels have turned the heads of thousands of men. Mr. Fitzgerald is proud to remain a good game warden, deriving his satisfaction from the manifest esteem in which his fellow employees hold him.

Religion

World Needs More of It

Astrologists predict a world-wide revival of interest in religion in 1928, to continue for a cycle of years.

How far the stars control such things may be debated. But it would unquestionably contribute to peace, order and better relations all around if the religious instinct in man could get a closer grip on faith.

Getting Away From the Iron Hat

By Franklin Collier

SHOULD GIVE MORE HEED TO INDIANS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THOSE people who have the best right and title to call themselves native Americans are the Indians.

A great many people believe that the Indians are Asiatic stock who wandered to this country through Alaska. However that may be, they arrived here a long while before the white man did and were the real first settlers, if they can be called settlers.

Their mode of life comprises many interesting characteristics. They are an outdoor people and live by hunting and fishing. Many movements, such as the Woodcraft, hark back to Indian customs in their effort to teach the young people the advantages of outdoor life.

Every race is interested in preserving all that it can of their autochthonous civilization. The Germans have a proper pride in their Teutonic ancestry and legends, such as are played upon in the Wagner operas. There is a considerable movement for the preservation of Gaelic speech or the original speech in Ireland, while the Welsh respectfully gave up their Welsh tongue. Americans of today should give more heed to the Indian. He had his art, his code of morals and his mode of life, which are all of extreme interest.

The movement has received the commendation of the Federal authorities in charge of Indian reservations who have not always been as considerate of the Indian as they should. Many prominent public-spirited citizens, especially women, are behind the enterprise.

The Indians had some crafts, such as the making of jewelry, basket weaving and the manufacture of blankets which have been handed down from father to son in their tribes. There is danger of these arts being lost unless they are fostered in some way.

Various tribes from all over the country and from Mexico will send representatives to this fleet who will bring their handicraft and also exhibit their ceremonial customs.

It is hoped that this proposal will be favorably accepted throughout the country and will receive its proper attention. (Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

BY ALAN MICHAELIS
SWIFT is the song that the east wind sings, coming at last to shore down by the rocks where the seaweed clings and the breakers sweep and roar. Singing of women that will the game far from the shore's embrace, waves of white foam and foam of white foam of white foam. Lead in the song that the singing sings, sailing on the sea wind brings with a lure that will never wane. Melody has not the sea-wind's lips, music that will not die, wrought into stories of sunset ships and the marvels of sea and sky. Dear are the dreams that the sea-wind brings here on the coast, the sound of a thousand strings, the sea-wind brings with a lure that will never wane.

BOSTON DAY-DAY

IN the North End is a unique school. Children born in Boston and unable to understand a word of English are taught in this school. . . . The young woman teacher is extremely patient. She corrects and shows the tiny children seats and again. She is a genius at inventing interesting situations. Patience and patience alone does. The teacher is patient when in a traffic jam. . . . This is the crucial test of genuine patience. . . . As the pure form art swept over us in the subway we saw Japanese sailors, under, neatly dressed. Near by were two musicians in a hurry to get somewhere, in evening clothes and white socks. One player neatly muffled himself. . . . Once below where hotels only. . . . In the palatial places are shops and stores of all sorts. The purchases can outfit himself from head to foot. Silk shirts, imported fashions, motor cars, real estates, a fishing boat or a bath tub can be bought without leaving the hotel. . . . Lunches and dinners of various organizations are held there. . . . Unless you have kept her under the most vital and fundamental function of her life, the function of motherhood, she has far more interest than any little she-woman from the African bush. . . . Unless you have kept her under the most vital and fundamental function of her life, the function of motherhood, she has far more interest than any little she-woman from the African bush. . . . Right next one hotel is a huge shop selling bathroom fixtures. Tiled books for clothes, tiled receptacles for slippers, and automatic temperature regulators for bathing water are seen. . . . One Newton home has a sunken tub off its "master's room." Pool is the better word, for it is a small pool. Everything is so arranged that the owner steps in through a French window directly from his bedroom. It is supposed to have cost $15,000. . . . There is no country today, civilized or uncivilized, in which the average young woman has as little accurate instruction in the problems of sex as in America today. The reason for this is obvious. We still retain our Puritanical attitude toward the discussion of all physical matters. No wonder we have the largest maternity death rates among civilized nations. . . . Don't such pettiness and ignorance appalling! . . . Massachusetts thinks it is. . . . To rectify it she has recently invited a correspondence course in motherhood by the State department of health and education through the State division of university extension. . . . The course of fifteen lessons includes prenatal care, practical preparations for confinement, care of the baby and of the nursing mother, the sick baby and weaning. . . . Papers written by students enrolled in it shall be corrected and necessary comments and suggestions by an experienced nurse. . . . What are we going to have enough decency and common sense to put these things into moving picture, and show them in our public schools? . . . And what would YOU say if we did? . . . LISTEN, WORLD!

DOES your daughter know how to be a mother? . . . A startling question? . . . Why should it be? She knows how to dance and dress, swim, sing and play tennis. She knows how to set a table, how to greet guests, how to arrange flowers; she has read the latest books and seen the smartest plays. . . . All of these things you consider essential to her education as a future mistress of a home. But concerning the most vital and fundamental function of her life, the function of motherhood, she has far more interest than any little she-woman from the African bush. . . .
